FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Can you email my Form I-20 to me?
• Yes, schools are now able to email the Form I-20 to students!

Can I fax my documents to WCC?
• WCC does not accept faxed documents. Emailed/scanned documents must be received directly from the issuing party’s official email, for example, transcripts emailed directly from the academic institution or bank letter/statement emailed directly from the financial institution, if they are willing to do so. If not, the official original document must be mailed or dropped off to WCC.

What do I do if the bank will not stamp the Notarized Financial Support Form?
• It is not the stamp of the bank that is required on this document. A Notary or Attorney must witness your financial sponsor sign/date this form. The notary or attorney will then place their signature/date and stamp/seal where indicated. These services are available in all countries.

I am applying for a different academic year than the form indicates. Is that okay?
• The financial requirement is subject to change. Students will often submit this form with a higher amount than is required. That way if the requirement increases for the new academic year, they may not have to submit new documents.

What if my school no longer exists?
• Please submit in writing the necessary information regarding the status of your academic records. Provide details on why you are not able to obtain the required information. Students under the age of 18 years old will be required to provide proof of high school/secondary school completion.

I went to several schools; can my final transcript show the classes I completed at the other schools?
• No, you will need to request your academic records from each school you attended.

I come from a country where English is the official language. Do I still need to take one of these exams?
• WCC requires proof of English proficiency. If you were English educated your entire life, you are welcome to have your schools send letters attesting to the fact that the medium of instruction was English. The letters must also list the years you attended their school. See page 8.

I have completed an English as a Second Language (ESL) program in the U.S. Does this fulfill the requirement?
• No, one of the accepted English proficiency exams showing you have met the minimum necessary is required.

I took the TOEFL (iTP); do you accept this?
• No, this is an institutional placement test. It used for a separate purpose and is administered differently than the official TOEFL (iBT)
